

Baroness Joan Walmsley
Education Spokesperson in the Lords.
 Joan also serves on the House of Lords Select Committee on Science and Technology.

Joan looks at the Kashmir women making a peace protest in a inner city park situated in the Makbuza Kashmir region also referred to as Indian Occupied Kashmir. Bellow this picture is a tree, we took this during the first delegation in 2003, one can see a tree trunk shattered as a bullet blasts through it. (A solder stands garde on the line of fire)

A wide range of LibDems Colleagues...

.... take time looking at the combinations of picture that reflect the polite of the Kashmir people who sense the 1947 resolution have been calling for the international community to move towards a resolve.

This exhibition follows last years autumn conference display in Blackpool which attracted significant interests related to the disputed territory.

"Very educational"

" please to see once again we the LibDems are the first for a British political party to exhibit our delegations findings and display issues related to the disputed regions of Kashmir".

